CA Dashboard Update

- Test scores released to the public today
- Dr. Alzina explained how the CSS students compared to the state of California
- Only 22% of CA students exceed the standards in ELA, compared to 62% of CSS.
- CSS continues to move students to the exceeding standards
- Dr. Alzina outlined how California's standards compare to other state standards
- CSS has strong school-wide progress monitoring on literacy and a focus on supporting students in goal setting in this area, but the gaps seen across the state are significantly exacerbated by the language gaps in California's student populations which leave much of the test inaccessible to students who are not English proficient.
- Similar schools data shows that CSS is still at the upper end of this ranking as well.
- Of the 8 indicators for school success, there are 5 local indicators
- The 5 local indicators have become part the LCAP priority goals, and this is how the budget is structured.
- Narrative for the 5 local indicators will be submitted by November 2019, and then released to the public by December 2019.

School Safety Update

- Mr. Calderon shared that school safety is improving - all classrooms have new door locks, shades for windowed doors, etc.

- Next step is to ask the community for a bond to reconfigure the school site to monitor who is entering campus.
- A survey company is sending information and gathering data this week to take the temperature of the public regarding passing a bond in the 2020 November election.

Elke Kane moved to adjourn the meeting at 8:15. Justin Pierce seconded.
